

Pests and beneficial insects - blog 08 Hungary

Shortly before winter, we visited the trial stations in Hungary with our colleague from Hungary, Andras Palffy. They had unfavourable conditions during the sowing time, in september the rain was missing and it was very hot. So the plants did not developed so many leafs and the emergence was quite inhomogenous. Regarding the pest pressure, they did not have so many problems because of the hot period.